There is no more useful or elegant article than Ayer's Hair Vigor-the most popular and economical hair-dressing in the market. It causes the hair to grow abundantly and retain the beauty and texture of youth; prevents bald-ness, heals troublesome humors of the scalp and keeps it clean, cool, and healthy. Both ladies and gentlemen everywhere prefer Ayer's Hair, Yigor to any other dressing for the hair, Mrs. Lydia O.
E. Pittswrites: "I Ask For have used Ayer's

QUEER LOVE LETTER.

How the Late President Lincoln Proposed to Mary Todd.

Young Ladles' Fashion Besar.

Abraham Lincoln's offer of marriage was a very curious one, and, singularly enough, it has but recently come to light. Numerous as his biographers have been, and closely as they have gleaned for new facts and materials, it was left for the latest one-Mr. Jesse Welk, of Greencastle—to discover this unique and characteristic production of Mr. Lincoln's almost untutored mind. The letter is one of several written presumably to the lady he afterwards mar-

Addressed to "My Dear Mary," it reads thus:You must know that I can't see you or think of you with entire indifference or think of you with entire indifference, and yet it may be that you are mistaken in regard to what my real feelings towards you are. If I knew you were not I should not trouble you with this letter. Perhaps any other man would know enough without any further information, but I consider it my peculiar right to plead informace and your right to plead ignorance and your bounden duty to allow the plea.

I want in all cases to do right, and most particularly so in all cases with women. I want at this particular time more than anything else to do right with you, and if I knew it would be doing right and really ing right, as I rather suspect it would, to let you alone, I would do it. And for the purpose of making the matter as plain as possible I now say you can drop the subject, dismiss your thoughts—it you ever had any—from me forever, and leave this letter unanswered without calling forth one accusing murmur from me. And I will even go further, and say that if it will add anything to your comfort and peace of mind to do so, it is my sincere wish that you should. Do not understand by this that I wish to cut your acquaintance. I mean no such thing. What I do wish is that our thing. What I do wish is that our further acquaintance shall depend upon yourself. If such further acquaintance would contribute nothing to your happiness I am sure it would not to mine. If you feel yourself in any degree bound to me, I am now willing to release you, provided you wish it, while on the other hand I am willing and even anxious to bind you faster if I can be convinced that it will in any degree add to your happiness. This, indeed, is the whole question with me. Nothing would make me more miserable than to believe you miserable; nothing more to believe you miserable; nothing more happy than to know you were so. In what I have now said I think I cannot be misunderstood, and to make myself be misunderstood, and to make myself understood is the only object of this letter. If it suits you best not to answer this, farewell. A long life and a merry one attend you. But, if you conclude to write back, speak as plainly as I do. There can be neither harm nor danger in saying to me anything you think, just in the manner you think it.

just in the manner you think it.
Your friend, A. Lincoln.
Probably this is the queerest love letter on record and the most remarkable offer of marriage ever made. It is a love letter without a word of love, and a proposal of marriage that does not propose, and yet it led to the great Lining, and this evening we arrived back in town from Newquay, Cornwall, where we have been spending the holidays for the sake of my health, as papa has not scrupled to blurt out, once or twice in my presence. There is a strain of coarseness in papa, or perhaps I should say— for the impression it leaves is primarily negative, as of something manque—an incompleteness in the sensitive equipment. As yet it can hardly be said to embarrass me, though I forsee a time when I shall have to blush for it before strangers. But then he is so splendidly healthy.

Tuesday.—I am learning to walk. Tuesday.—I am learning to walk. Moreover, I have fancied in myself during the day a tendency to fall in love with my nurse. On the pretence that walking might give me bandy legs she caught me up and pressed me to her boson. We have no affinities; indeed, beyond cleanliness and a certain unreasoning honesty, she can be said to possess no attributes at all. I am convinced that a scripping affection for her possess no attributes at all. I am convinced that a serious affection for her would be nothing short of intellectual suicide; and yet for awhile I abandon myself. I must not fight against the instincts that run in my blood, as in every man's, but must regard her heart as no more than a curious toy to be as no more than a curious toy, to be flung aside when broken. It will make a good novel some day. The poor child has no "followers." If she had, I, of all has no "followers." If she had, I, of all people, should know of it.

Wednesday.—I am much troubled by some reflections that have occurred to me on the subject of heredity. It terrifies me to think that I shall grow up like paps. Mamma, too, is hardly less a savage; she wore diamonds in her hair when the control to the savage. hair when she came up to the nurser; late last night to look at me. She be-lieved that I was asleep, but I wasn't, and I never in my life felt so sorry that I couldn't speak. The appaling bar-barism of those ornaments! It is rain-ing—the sky doing its best to resemble a carot—and I am forced to stay indoors and play with my ark. Nurse is lookand play with my ark. Nurse is looking pale to-day, but this may be because I cried half the night and kept her awake. The fact is, I was cutting a tooth. I have given up trying to walk; learning somnambulism instead.

Thursday.—To-day I was spanked for the first time. When done crying I mean to analyze my sensations at the time.

Thumping Objector Holman.

Mr. Holman is a man of small, nar-row, illiberal, and contracted views. He is essentially a narrow man. All the reputation he has made as a representareputation he has made as a representa-tive in Congress has been made as an objector to appropriations. In the course of a long career as an indis-criminate objector he has doubtless prevented some appropriations that should not have been made, but he has been the means of preventing a great many that should have been made. He thinks the expenses of the government should be limited to running the de-partments. This idea of economy is like that of a rich farmer who lets his buildings and fences go to decay for want of repairs, who is opposed to the use of agricultural machinery because it costs too much, who does not believe in under-draining who insists that scrub horses and scrub cattle are as good as blooded ones, who drives his scrub horses with a tow string and starves his wife and children in order that he may add to his bank account. The Holman idea of statesmanship is cheap government.

CATHOLIC CHURCH STATISTICS. Interesting Figures of the Cardinals-The Majority Aro Italiaus, St. James's Gazette, There are at present 59 cardinals of the Catholic church, including 6 cardinal bishops, 47 priests, and 7 deacons, all of whom, except 3 cardinal priests and 7 deacons, are patriarchs, archbish-ops or bishops. Of these 59 cardinals 34 are Italian, 7

An Awful Tragedy.

Thousands of lives have been sacrificed, thousands of homes made desolate by the fatal mistake of the "oldschool" physicians, still persisted in by some, notwithstanding the light thrown some, notwithstanding the light thrown upon the subject by modern research, that Consumption is incurable. It is not. Consumption is a scrofulous disease of the lungs, and any remedy which strikes right at the seat of the complaint must and will cure it. Such a remedy is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a certain specific for all scrofulous complaints. It was never known to fail if given a fair trial, and that is why the manufacturers sell it under a positive guarantee that if it under a positive guarantee that if it does not benefit or cure the money paid for it will be refunded. The only lung for it will be refunded. The only lung remedy possessed of such remarkable curative properties as to warrant its makers in selling it on trial!

Remarkable Facts.

Heart disease is usually supposed to be incurable, but when properly treated a large proportion of cases can be cured. Thus Mrs. Elmira Hatch, of Elkhart, Ind., and Mrs. Mary L. Baker, of Ovid, Mich., were cured after suffering 20 years. S. C. Linburger, druggist at San Jose, Ill., says that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which cured the former "weeked". Gure, which cured the former, "worked wonders for his wife." Levi Logan, of Buchanan, Mich., who had heart disease for 30 years, says two bottles made him "feel like a new man." Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold and guaranteed by the Logan Drug Co. Book of wonderful testimonials free.
